

Ethics rules of participation to the a Discovering Networking asbl and the campaign Discovering Greek Products in Belgium

Every member of the ADN asbl fully respects and abides to the following rules:

1. All members are legal entities fully and legally established in the country they declare as their primary seat. Sales or distribution of products need to comply with the Greek and EU legislation, on health and safety, trading and labelling requirements. Members in Belgium: all members possess the legal representation rights to trade the said products and in conformity to specific additional national legislation.
2. Members regularly inform the ADN asbl on the points of sale of the products. They also promote the campaign where possible by using the logo of the campaign at their points of sale, on social media and internet or during events. More particular, in the case of events it is recommended that leaflets of the campaign will be given to the members so that they can be shared with the audience.
